

Carrie and I were able to attend the June 4 show at the Pompano Citi Centre honoring our troops and benefiting the Disabled American Veterans. It turned out to be a great show with something going on most of the day. The live auction items were unbelievable, and included things like Jacuzzis (both indoor and outdoor), air compressors, refrigerators, pneumatic tools, outdoor grills, etc, etc. The silent auction had many certificates from hotels and local businesses with a minimum bid of $25.00. There were lots of cars of all types. The show took place in a shopping center with plenty of restaurants and liquid refreshments close by. We were parked by the grass and spent most of the day under our tent enjoying the cool breeze. Great show and a good time was had by all. The fact that I won the trophy for best early mustang really crowned the day!

FUN

One of the very few things that improve with age is perception. Yes, I know, you are thinking wine. I'm referring to this thing we call me, myself and I. When we are young, be it in years or just plain immature, we can relate an event or experience that is of great interest to ourselves and never note that the person or persons to whom we are speaking are bored to extraction. In the movie "Airport II " there is truly hilarious part where in the young male passenger is relating his life time flying exploits to an older female seat mate. After he has rambled on and on the camera moves to the seat mate who has now turned into a skeleton. He has bored her to death.

With age and maturity we pick up little things, body language and such that reminds us that silence is golden. So what is my point? This is a mustang publication! Just this: In April 2009 my wife and I drove our 66 mustang to Birmingham, Alabama to attend the 45th Mustang Anniversary , just as we had for the 40th in Nashville and 35th in Charlotte. Memories were made and there are stories to tell. But my age enhanced power of perception tells me that if the largest mustang event of the decade did not generate enough interest in our Mustang Club to merit so much as a mention , spoken or written: then any reporting there on would be a "Yawn".

But this I will report: These three day, 5,000 car rallies and the ensuing multi State sight seeing "Pony Drives" are FUN. In fact for my wife Mickey and I, they are the most fun we have had with our mustang.

Now here is the Thrust of this Submission: We have a Mustang Club. The club has a news letter. Our editor needs written input. As a suggestion tell us your impression or experiences of mustang fun. At our monthly club meetings we have an agenda sheet with headings old fun and new fun. Tell us what these terms mean to you. Believe it or not, the ten years that I spent restoring my very abused 66 Mustang, 1976 to 1986, is high on my fun list. Of coarse I enjoy working with my hands and learning new things. There were ample amounts of both with that project.
